How We Work

Remote-Friendly

We've adopted a remote-friendly culture that offers flexibility between working from home and using our offices in Madrid, Barcelona or Málaga. Your time in the office is always your choice—we want Lingoers to be empowered to work where and how they feel most comfortable and productive. With no restrictions on remote work days, you have the freedom to create a work-life balance that suits you best.

Our Madrid headquarters

Our Madrid HQ is more than just an office: it's an incubator for creativity and collaboration. Embracing our remote-friendly culture, this space is our hub for occasional in-person connections, offering a buzzing, inviting environment where you can work and engage with your team comfortably, whenever you're in the city.

Flexible schedules

We champion work-life balance with flexible working hours. Our core collaboration time is between 10:00 and 16:00 CET, but you're the captain of your schedule. Transparency is key—just keep your team updated and your calendar up to date.
